Camp Linyanti, nestled in the secluded expanse of Chobe National Park, offers an authentic bush experience along the tranquil banks of the Linyanti River. Renowned for hosting abundant wildlife, including the world's largest concentrations of elephants and wild dogs, the Linyanti region beckons as a vibrant ecosystem in Southern Africa.

Located in the untouched north-western corner of Chobe National Park, Camp Linyanti thrives in exclusive seclusion, away from the seasonal buzz of the Chobe River. The main lodge features expansive wooden decks overlooking the meandering Linyanti River, providing the perfect setting to witness elephants and breathtaking birdlife. Guests can enjoy a lounge, dining, and bar area, along with a swimming pool and Boma for captivating evenings by the fire.

Camp Linyanti offers nine river-facing tents and one family suite, each adorned with a private deck, tastefully decorated for an unforgettable stay. Indulge in meals amidst bird songs and wildlife passing by, creating an unforgettable dining ambiance. Guests can embark on diverse experiences, including thrilling game drives, promising unforgettable adventures in the heart of the Linyanti region.
